PODCAST

Who I am

Moi c'est Caroline.

I teach people how to speak French like a true native. I teach French as it is meant to be taught, with passion and enjoyment. French is not boring. French is beautiful and I make people see that. This is where I bring my 10 years of teaching experience to the table.

In the last ten years, I have taught hundreds of people the gift of speaking French. My goal is to teach French to as many people as I can. True conversational French that helps them see the true character of this amazing language.

My mission

The French Blabla Podcast is here to teach you the French language naturally!

It takes you away from the mundane French lectures that focus way too much on grammar and all the boring stuff...

Instead, this podcast is a place where you will learn to speak French, the way it's spoken!

It will teach you things you won't find in books or be taught about at school. You'll speak French as badly as French natives themselves.

“Caro is a wonderful instructor with a good sense of humor. I've enjoyed working on my French with her in her one on one course. The podcasts are fabulous. She covers such useful grammaire that you never learned in school.”

“I have lived in France for 4 years and I wish someone told me about this podcast before I came here. It would have made my life so much easier in the early days. Now, it's a useful refresher and explains some of the language I have simply picked-up from natives and repeated. Well played, Caroline!”
